The Royal International Air Tattoo - RIAT

the fun and the challenges

by

Tim Prince

Inspired by Squadron Leader Jack Currie DFC RAF, a small team of volunteers staged an air show at North Weald Aerodrome in 1971 in support of the Royal Air Forces Association (RAFA).

To ensure that it would stand out from the numerous other annual 'air shows' in the UK, they called it the 'Air Tattoo'. It was a success with the participating aircrews enjoying the energy and enthusiasm of the volunteers, and the spectating public happy with the exciting flying with aircraft from far & wide.

It is now the 'Royal International Air Tattoo' and in its 50th year. Tim Prince, who has been part of the RIAT's story since 1971, will share some of the many stories about this important annual gathering of the world's military aircraft and aviators.

Tim will bring some of his many unique videos and photos to show the audience.
